Engine Company 102 Firehouse
7340 North Clark Street

Your new firehouse, built by the Public Building Commission of Chicago, is a 15,000-square-foot state-of-the-art facility. Engine Company 102 is the eighth of nine new firehouses to be built in Chicago in more than two decades.

Rebuilding Chicago's outdated firehouses is a priority of Mayor Daley's Neighborhood Alive 21 program. The City of Chicago, the Chicago Fire Department and the Public Building Commission are all working together to bring these new facilities to Chicago communities.
